LEWES, DEL. -

To the Editor:

Delaware has a unique opportunity on Sept. 12 to elect an extraordinary person to the General Assembly by electing Rob Robinson.

Don't be fooled by those who want to paint Rob Robinson as someone who will be a "tax and spend" legislator towing the Democratic line. Rob is an independent thinker. Coming from a Republican family and active in community work, Rob will bring common sense and, as a consensus builder, can get things done.

We don't need someone who is beholden to developers or any other special interest group. What we need is a thoughtful person, with no personal agenda, who truly cares for what is best for his community. In other words, Rob Robinson.

As a public defender, Rob is known for working with social services, law enforcement, and state agencies to try to help the defendants he represents, including those who struggle with drug addiction or mental illness. Rob is liked and respected by law enforcement officers, prosecutors, and other members of the legal community because he brings people together to find solutions.

As Representative of the 37th District, Rob will be a great advocate for all of us. Please join us in voting for Rob Robinson on Sept. 12.
